Dear journalist colleagues: Many of you are asking for response to the Associated Press story that was just published about Robert Levinson. You may use the following, attributable to NSC Spokesperson Caitlin Hayden:

"Without commenting on any purported affiliation between Mr. Levinson and the U.S. government, the White House and others in the U.S. Government strongly urged the AP not to run this story out of concern for Mr. Levinson's life. We regret that the AP would choose to run a story that does nothing to further the cause of bringing him home. The investigation into Mr. Levinson's disappearance continues, and we all remain committed to finding him and bringing him home safely to his family."

Thank you. -NSC Press Office

"Bob remains a member of the FBI family to this day," said Director Mueller.

A crowd of current and former special agents stood with the family of Bob Levinson on the steps of WFO March 6 in a sign of solidarity as the FBI publicized new efforts to safely bring home the retired special agent who vanished in Iran and is believed to be in captivity in Southwest Asia.

The event marked the five year anniversary of Levinson's disappearance from Kish Island, Iran, during a business trip. It also marked a multi-pronged publicity blitz to encourage anyone with information to step forward.

In November 2010, the family received a proof-of-life-video which can be viewed on the family's website, HelpBobLevinson.com. In the video, Levinson says he is being held hostage but does not identify his captors. There has been no mention of demands in exchange for his safety.

"To the Levinson family, we in the FBI share in your heartache, but we also share in your sense of hope. Hope of Bob's safety, hope of Bob's health, and hope of his homecoming," Director Mueller said in front of news crews gathered for the press conference. "We often speak of the FBI family. And although he is retired from the FBI family, Bob remains a member of the FBI family to this day. And his family is our family."

Director Mueller announced a $1 million reward for the location, safe recovery and return of Levinson, a 22-year veteran of the Bureau. WFO ADIC James McJunkin said the large sum underlines the importance of this case to the FBI.

The blitz will also include billboards, information on FBI.gov and radio messages. But the efforts will also reach around the world. ADIC McJunkin said that one year ago, Secretary of State Hilary Clinton received information indicating Levinson was being held by a group somewhere in Southwest Asia, which includes the border regions of Iran, Pakistan and Afghanistan.

Beginning this week, the publicity campaign will expand into that region with flyers handed out and a confidential tip line established.

With emotion in her voice, Levinson's wife of 37 years, Christine Levinson, thanked the Bureau for the reward and for not giving up hope.

"Our family believes that the efforts by the FBI are the best way to successfully find Bob and bring him home safely. We also believe that Bob, as a retired FBI agent, would say the same," she said. "Knowing that Bob is being held against his will and not being able to help him has been extremely hard for our family. There are no words to describe the nightmare my family and I have been living every day. I never imagined that we would still be waiting for Bob to come home five years later."

Levinson served 22 years with the FBI in the New York, Los Angeles and Miami field office and six years with the DEA. After his retirement, Levinson began working as an investigator for private corporations and on March 8, 2007, he traveled to Kish Island for business meetings at the Maryam Hotel. He checked out the next day and was never seen or heard from again.

There are no records that he used his plane ticket to Dubai or that he used his passport or credit cards after March 9, 2007.

Levinson has been diagnosed with diabetes and hypertension. Although the video indicates he is well, ADIC McJunkin said he is worried about his health and what kind of care he is getting. The captive turns 64 on March 10.

"Personally, it's been very frustrating," said ADIC McJunkin. "We've had a lot of long days, a lot of long weekends and long nights. But we haven't given up and we don't give up. We're hoping for a break here."

A Moment of Silence for Levinson Anniversary

"Bob remains a member of the FBI family to this day," said Director Mueller during a 2012 press conference to announce a $1 million award for information leading to the safe return of former SA Bob Levinson who went missing in 2007.

FBI employees participated in a moment of silence at 3 p.m. EST March 8 to mark the sixth anniversary of the disappearance of former SA Robert Levinson. The observance was a joint effort by the Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI and the FBI Agents Association.

Levinson, who turns 65 on March 10, served 22 years with the FBI in the New York, Los Angeles, and Miami Field Offices, and six years with the Drug Enforcement Administration. After his retirement, he began working as an investigator for private corporations. He disappeared March 9, 2007 while on a business trip to Kish Island, Iran.

"On this sixth anniversary of his disappearance, the FBI remains committed to bringing Bob home safely to his family," said Deputy Director Sean Joyce.

With the exception of a videotape released in November 2010, and photographs received in April 2011, his family has not heard from his captors.

Last year, Director Mueller announced a $1 million reward for the location, safe recovery, and return of Levinson. In 2011, the United States received information indicating the husband and father of seven is being held by a group somewhere in Southwest Asia, which includes the border regions of Iran, Pakistan, and Afghanistan.

"To the Levinson family, we in the FBI share in your heartache, but we also share in your sense of hope. Hope of Bob's safety, hope of Bob's health, and hope of his homecoming," Director Mueller said during a press conference last year. "We often speak of the FBI family. And although he is retired from the FBI family, Bob remains a member of the FBI family to this day. And his family is our family."
